

District News*Police Ride Moonshine*Still In Irla District

Exclusive to Bulletin

IRMA, July 23.—Margaret Smith, spending a couple of weeks with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kirkpatrick, is with the extra gang near Edmonton. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick, with their family, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Erickson, motored to Banff the first of the week.

Mr. S. K. Kirkpatrick has purchased the farm of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Smith, range eight, about five miles north of town, at a consideration of $18 per acre.

Mrs. Y. M. Morton, Mrs. F. W. Houghtaling, and Mrs. R. G. Smith went west. They went by Ponoka and were staying with Mr. and son's son Eric, who has a position in Ponoka for his vacation.

Frank D. McLean, of Fort and Ormeau district, intend returning to Experimental Farm at that point on Wednesday, July 25. The different experiments at the experimental farm are at their best at that time. A few more days at all day will not do the experiment.

The party intend leaving the Albert School at around 10 a.m. and will return to make the trip west to welcome to as many people as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Orr, of Jarvis, Mrs. W. O. Conrad, of Portland, Oregon, and Mrs. Charles Whiteman, of New York, left Tuesday for Denver, where spending his vacation with his family at Irma.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Orr arrived in their new house on Main Street. Mr. and Mrs. Orr have been married the anniversary of their wedding by moving in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S.B.R., supervisor of Wainwright, desire to get in touch with the public to let them know he is to use one of the boys that the department is trying to place. Those he wants to help are those who have been sent out under what is known as the "outfitting" plan. He has had some training before being sent to Alberta.

A police is being held three miles north-east of Silver Lake, south of Irma, to try to find the killer of Mrs. Charles' husband.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Orr, of Jarvis, have been attending the Edmonton Police Department.

Wednesday afternoon, Mr. D. A. Ash, J. M. Orr, and Mr. and Mrs. George D. Stewart, of the Wainwright detachment A.P.P. presented themselves at the office of the Irma district, charged with consuming beer, liquor, and tobacco. They carried all pieces guilty and were fined $20 and costs. The constable realized that the men were not all bad. One of the boys had complained that his son was drinking beer and was under the influence of liquor. Upon investigation, he found his son was becoming moonstruck. Monday they visited the farm of Aug. 11, 1927, and the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Irma. On this farm the officers secured a sample of beer. The man can with a copper worm and 45 gallons of mash from which the men made beer. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright and his trial set for Thursday.

Today's text is suggested by Capt. Sullivan, Salvation Army.

Edmonton Bulletin

"Edmonton's Own Newspaper"

Published every afternoon, except Sunday, by the Alberta Free Press, Limited, at the Bulletin Building, 104 Main Street, Jasper Avenue East, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.

CHARLES E. CAMPBELL
Owner and Publisher

Subscription Price—By Mail (in advance) per year, in Canada $5.00; United States $5.00. By air mail, $10.00. Postage 50c per issue.

Advertising Representatives—TORONTO, Ont., P. T. Thompson, 100 Yonge Street; NEW YORK CITY, New York, 100 Broadway; CHICAGO, 138 S. James Street; NEW YORK, U.S.A., D. J. Handel & Co., 241 Park Avenue; MONTREAL, Quebec, The Clougher Corporation, Limited, Royal Colonial Chambers, 20 Crown Street.

The Audit Bureau of Circulation audits the circulation of The Edmonton Bulletin.

IF IT WILL HELP ALBERTA THE BULLETIN IS FOR IT

MONDAY, JULY 23, 1928

THE WESTERN ROUTE

Some wheat which was shipped to Vancouver this season is being shipped back to Alberta. The Vancouver Sun secured the eight-million bushel to reach that port, and is distributing this in two ounce sacks as souvenirs of the summer season for the history of Vancouver's great wheat crop. One of these sacks has reached the Bulletin office. The sack carries a brief statement of the expansion of the wheat export trade through Vancouver which must arouse interest in the fact that one million bushels in 1920-21 to eighty million in 1927-28, and still growing.

The surprising growth in wheat export that is thus summarized is one in which the public may perhaps be surprised in which there is ample ground for faith that the trade will continue to expand. As the western route is a cheaper route, and an all-the-year-round route, the Alberta farmer had also reason to be gratified in the fact that so much of a grain is now going to market by the Pacific. The appearance of his fields at the present time gives promise that Vancouver's record of eighty million bushels in a single season will not stand unbroken next winter.

"THE REPUDIATION" TREATY

The Government of Great Britain and those of all the dominions have now signed the repudiation treaty to which they have committed themselves to Washington in their reply to Mr. Kellogg's note. These are unanimously in favor of the making of the proposed treaty. The governing authorities of the English-speaking nations of the world have agreed in repudiating war as a means of promoting national aggrandizement or carrying public policy into effect. It may be assumed with confidence that the legislative bodies of all these states will ratify the treaty when it is presented before them, and that doing so they will have the heartiest approval of the peoples they represent.

France, Germany, Italy and Japan have also intimated their desire to agree to the repudiation. This is the assurance for it the adherence of countries which represent the overwhelming money power and military power of the world. With this initial backing, it is unlikely that countries of lesser might will follow suit when it is evident to them that it is wiser to yield to stand firmly by our higher cause.

A soldier was once asked whether he had any fear. "Yes," he said, "I am afraid of course I am afraid." Many a man has given for good and done some heroic acts while all the time he was trembling inwardly with fear.

likely that they will want light on one point before they import this particular American contrivance. They may want to know where Mr. Bennett would have the commission draw the line as between one industry and another.

It is the opinion of the author that under every industrial enterprise that a man may choose to start? In times when mining companies and other industrial projects are bobbing up in the stock markets like mushrooms, that is a somewhat interesting and important consideration.

Creeds

By EDGAR E. GUEST

Each for himself should make a creed And base upon it every deed. And out of it the world thought That such a character should be wrought.

I care not what that creed may be If good is the result I seek. Nor what the framework of the plan If out of it is grown a man.

I have no pride in form or words For that is static dullness. And when I move I am simple clean Are signs by which man's soul is seen.

World-wide the strong man is the good Is recognized and understood. A high example all will teach For deeds have universal speech.

Fear and Cowardice

By DR. FRANK MC COY

There is a difference between fear and cowardice. Fear is a natural instinctive shrinking from danger or the threat of danger. Almost all high-strung nervous natures are prone to fear.

Cowardice is the yielding to this fear so that we do some unworthy action or give way to an unworthy impulse.

The bravest are those who know no fear; those who are so hardened or stolid that they have lost the sense of fear and the presence of danger, still go ahead and perform their duty.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The bravest are those who know no fear, but upon the conquest of fear by higher motives.

Winkelried was fearless and impulsive to danger. He was a natural born leader, and realized the peril of their death but still had nerve enough to perform his duty.

It is the brave who, lost to all sense of fear, run madly at the enemy and expose themselves to death. They do not know nor care about the consequences.

The Bulletin's Page of World News Told in Pictures

Champion Vocalists : 13-year-old Athlete : Bisley Marksmen

SINGERS FROM ALL FRANCE COMPETE IN PARIS: The three winners of the singing contest held under the auspices of the Paris Conservatory of Music and Comédie Française will be given contracts at the Comédie

YOUNGEST MEMBER OF AMERICAN OLYMPIC TEAM: Dorothy Poynton, swimmer, of Hollywood, Calif., who will celebrate her thirteenth birthday on the S.S. President Roosevelt

BISLEY COMPETITORS: A line of crack shots in army rifle shooting competition at Bisley Camp, England, aiming for the bullseye, with the sailors keeping score

WHEN A SLIP MAY RESULT IN A CATASTROPHE: Bevo successfully leaps this human hurdle as a feature of the Sedgefield Horse Show at Greensboro, North Carolina

FLIRTS WITH ICEBERGS: The United States coastguard cutter Marion has sailed from Boston to learn everything possible regarding icebergs in the northern seas. Lt.-Commander E. H. Smith is shown in inset

PLANNING FLIGHT FROM CALIFORNIA TO TOKIO: Major Livingston Irving, war ace (left), and John Kubasta, Japanese flier, are expecting to make a 7,000-mile good-will flight across the Pacific

AT AIR FORCE PAGEANT: Premier and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin watch with great interest the thrilling aerial display of fighting machines at Hendon, England

BARD OF AVON LOOKS DOWN ON SAN FRANCISCO: Former Senator James D. Phelan has made a copy of the bust of Shakespeare, which has been presented by Major Archibald Flower of Stratford-on-Avon

FAIR SURF RIDER ENJOYS A REAL THRILL: Surf riding is becoming more popular in England among the seaside bathers and is reckoned the best of sports. This rider is travelling through the water at 35 knots an hour

KING OUT FOR A WALK: Alfonso, monarch of Spain, leaving his hotel while on a private visit to London

DISPENSER OF JUSTICE: Jr. Soume Tcheng, lady judge of the Chinese supreme court, recently completed a diplomatic mission to France

FAMOUS DANCER LEAVES FOR SOUTH AMERICA: Madame Anna Pavlova, world-famous dance artist, before her departure from Southampton on the liner Alcantara, was presented with a bouquet by a little passenger

ON UNITED STATES OLYMPIC TEAM: Rena Macdonald, 18, who will put the shot in the women's events at the coming Olympics games

SAILS FOR OLD LAND: S. R. Wickett, well-known Toronto leather manufacturer, left for England on a combined pleasure and business trip, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. B. Kilbourne, who is shown here with him

NEW CANADIAN STEAMER WILL PLY ATLANTIC: The Canadian National Steamships has completed construction of the Lady Nelson, the first of five steamers, which will be operated between Atlantic ports and the West Indies

DARING BRITISH AVIATORS FLY UPSIDE DOWN AT AIR FORCE PAGEANT: One of the many thrilling exhibitions of British airmen during the great display of England's war-time aircraft at the recent Hendon pageant was the amazing upside down flying. This picture shows a race between one plane flying upright and one turned over

Jim Mountfield Winner of Western Canada Amateur Golf Championship

LARGE CROWD SAW LAST DAY RACE PROGRAM

Madgou Don Won Edmonton Hotelmen's Handicap on Saturday

Golfer With the same brilliant gesture that had graced it all week, the race meeting held in conjunction with the Edmonton Exhibition finished up on Saturday with one of the best racing cards ever witnessed upon a local track.

Edmonton citizens certainly showed their appreciation of the racing by turning out in large numbers and the pari-mutuels were given a hand.

Perhaps one of the best fields that ever went to the starting post in the city met its stride in the Edmonton Hotelmen's Handicap, feature event of the day.

The race was run over a mile and a half and one-and-a-half miles.

This is a new event inaugurated this year.

It will run annually, a purse of $1000.

Madgou Don Wins

Madgou Don, owned by the Col. Boyle Stable and ridden by J. Longdon, was sent to the starting post in the pocket rocker and outlasted the rest of the racers.

He won under restraint for most of the way and let him out at the far turn where he was able to get away from the Captain Guard finished second while Whelby finished very fast to get third.

Favorites beaten

Project 8 and Captain Guard

coupled with the Col. Lee and Wally and Worthman, coupled as the McLeod and the McLeods, were the favorites in the field, but were beaten by Madgou Don, considered one of the outsiders.

Other favorites included

the Golden Bullet, a fine group of distance horses in the final heat to pay off $4.25 for a $5 investment.

Rowing Club of Winnipeg

ARE VICTORS

Retain Coveted Sir Thomas Lipton Trophy on Saturday

WINNIPEG, July 23.—For the third year in succession the Winnipeg rowers have proved themselves worthy winners of the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy, emblematic champion- ship of the world's amateur rowing association regatta.

Winnipeg triumphed in 1927, the Winnipeg Rowers repeated their triumph Saturday, sweeping to victory in every race.

The team of 10 men, which gained a total of 180.75 points, which gave them a lead of 100 points over their nearest rivals.

Their first was to cross the line in the senior eight and double sculls, and they also won second in the junior doublets.

Runners-up

On Friday, the second day of the regatta, St. Louis oarsmen members of the Minnesota Rowing club, provided the surprise of the day by defeating the Minnesotans, capturing the junior doublets and placed second in the senior eight.

In the aggregate standing, which counts the points of all four trophies, Minnesota was third, Kenora fourth and St. Louis fifth.

The total medal count, which includes Friday's and Saturday's events, follows:

Winnipeg, 190.75; St. Paul, 97.5;

Minneapolis, 22; Kenora, 21; St. Louis, 13.

Complete Office Outfitters

Filing Cabinets
Safes
Desks

Chairs
and
All Office Equipment

THE WILLSON STATIONERY CO. LTD.
Secretary to
E. N. KENNEDY CO.
1000 JASPER AVENUE

MACDONALD'S Fine Cut
a perfect blend for those who "roll their own"

with the free
ZIG-ZAG
CIGARETTE PAPERS attached

Believe It or Not

By Ripley

CAMROSE BALL TOURNEY WILL START JULY 26

Tournament is Biggest Event of Kind Staged In West

CAMROSE, Alta., July 23.—Prussian team appears for entry in the annual baseball tournament to be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 26, 27, 28, held in conjunction with the exhibition games which have been drawn to compete in what is considered the largest amateur baseball tournament west of the Mississippi River.

The teams drawn to play are: Red Wings, St. Paul, Minn.; White Sox, Chicago; Blackie, Sedgewick, Hardwick, New Norway, and Winkler.

Prizes offered for each game will be paid off daily according to the following schedule:

Thursday, July 26

10 a.m.—New Norway vs. Toledo

1 p.m.—Winkler vs. Toledo and Camrose-Balla games.

Friday, July 27

10 a.m.—Red Wings vs. Toledo

1 p.m.—Blackie vs. Sedgewick 6 p.m.—Blackie vs. Ponoka.

Saturday, July 28

10 a.m.—Red Wings vs. Toledo

1 p.m.—Blackie vs. Ponoka

Final game.

Good Prize

Prizes totaling $1,700 have been handed up by the Camrose Exhibition Association Limited, as prize money for the tournament.

The official entry fee for the team is $100, and a non-resident team $50.

Each game is $125 and the losing team gets $125 and the winning team gets $100.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be

awarded to the top three teams.

Prizes for each game will be awarded to

